FAITH AND PUBLIC LIFE UPDATES

London Bridge and Finsbury Park attacks - Faith and inter faith responses

On the evening of Saturday 3 June 8 people were killed and 48 people injured in a terrorist attack on London Bridge and nearby Borough Market. Later, on Monday 19 June, another terrorist attack occurred outside Finsbury Park Mosque in London, in which one person died and a further 10 were injured.

Faith and inter faith organisations played a significant role in responding to both events in a variety of ways.

Around the UK, faith and inter faith bodies offered prayers and messages of support. Vigils were organised following both incidents and ‘services of hope’ were held at Southwark Cathedral on 16 June following the London Bridge attack and at Finsbury Park Mosque on 3 July following the attack nearby.

A list of faith and inter faith responses to both incidents of which IFN is aware can be found at <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/news/london-bridge-attack-responses-by-faith-and-inter-faith-bodies> and <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/news/finsbury-park-attack-responses-by-faith-and-inter-faith-bodies>, respectively.

On 4 June IFN’s Co-Chairs and the Moderators of IFN’s Faith Communities Forum issued the following statement in response to the London Bridge attack:

“We hold in our thoughts and prayers those who have lost their lives or been injured in the attacks at London Bridge, and also their families and friends.

We give thanks for the bravery and commitment of all who went to their assistance.

This was a further brutal attempt to undermine the stability of British society and to sow suspicion and fear – one that must be met by continuing to stand resolutely together as people of all faiths and none to uphold the values of an open democratic society.

We must continue to work together for a respectful and positive society where people feel valued and included and safe and where all can flourish free from fear.

Attacks such as these can bring scapegoating and acts of hatred in their wake. Let us work to try and prevent that and respond together to assist whenever necessary.

We know that, just as following the recent attack in Manchester, inter faith organisations in London will be playing an important role in the days and weeks to come. They are also in our thoughts at this time.

Two weekends from now the anniversary of the murder of the late Jo Cox MP by an extremist of a different kind will be marked by the Great Get Together. People around the UK will be coming together in their communities in a spirit of neighbourliness to highlight and celebrate what unites. Let us seize that moment to strengthen our bonds of friendship and create new relationships and to remember and affirm that we have, in her words, “far more in common with each other than things that divide us”.

On 19 June IFN’s Co-Chairs and the Moderators of the Faith Communities Forum also issued a statement in response to the Finsbury Park attack:

“Our thoughts and prayers are with the victims of the horrific terrorist attack in the early hours of this morning at Finsbury Park and with their families and all others involved.

The attack took place just outside Muslim Welfare House where, this weekend, a Great Get Together event was held, like other GGT events, “celebrating all that we hold in common”. That event, like the mosque open days, other cross-communal events at Muslim Welfare House and nearby Finsbury Park Mosque and active engagement in the Islington Faiths Forum, has highlights the extensive work of those bodies to create positive links, as well as the good relations that others locally have with them.

Where terrorism seeks to wear the face of religion, or where innocent people connected to mosques or other places of worship are the subject of hatred and attack because of perceived links to terrorism, we must stand up for their safety and their right to live free from prejudice, suspicion and hatred.

We must continue to stand together, support each other and work together for the common good.

Earlier this year IFN, with Government, the Crown Prosecution Service, the National Police Chiefs Council and the National Fire Chiefs Council published short guidelines: Looking After One Another: The Safety and Security of our Faith Communities. As we say in this “As faith communities we ... have a role in responding to emergency situations and to inter-community tensions, both as individual communities and – very importantly – together. In our shared society we are deeply interconnected. An attack on one is an attack on all.”

We close, as we began, with thoughts and prayers for those affected and remember also those killed, injured and bereaved in other recent attacks.”

These statements can also be found on IFN’s website at <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/news/statements-and-messages>.

Statements from the Prime Minister on both attacks can be found at <https://www.gov.uk/government/speeches/pm-statement-following-london-terror-attack-4-june-2017> and <https://www.gov.uk/government/speeches/pm-statement-following-terror-attack-in-finsbury-park-19-june-2017>, respectively.

Battle of Passchendaele - Centenary

Monday 31 July marked the centenary of the beginning of the Battle of Passchendaele in which British soldiers fought alongside soldiers from Australia, Canada, India, pre-partition Ireland, Newfoundland, New Zealand and South Africa and from France and Belgium.

The Duke and Duchess of Cambridge were joined by the Prime Minister and many others to mark the occasion with a special service at Menin Gate in Ypres. (<http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/uk-40669719>).

The service marked the beginning of a three month-long programme of events linked to the centenary of the Battle, including commemorations to remember forty-three soldiers who were awarded the Victoria Cross for bravery during the battle. Further information can be found at <https://www.gov.uk/government/news/britain-remembers-the-heroes-of-passchendaele-with-community-ceremonies>.

Grenfell Tower Fire - Faith and inter faith responses

In the early hours of 14 June a fire engulfed Grenfell Tower, a residential tower block in Kensington, West London. The Metropolitan Police has estimated that around 80 people died in the fire.

Faith and inter faith bodies have played a major role in responding to the tragic events of the fire. This has included offering prayers and organising services and vigils. It has also included responding on the ground, both in the immediate aftermath of the fire and during the weeks that have followed.

Services and vigils were held in the wake of the fire including a special service of prayer at St Peter's Church Notting Hill and a multi faith vigil at Westway Sports Centre.

A range of local places of worship close to the site of the fire opened their doors to survivors and local residents, providing food, shelter and other urgently needed items, as well as offering emotional and spiritual care (<https://lbfm.org/tag/grenfell-tower-fire/>) and faith based agencies such as Caritas Westminster and local churches and other places of worship played a vital role, as well as faith groups visiting and sending support from further afield.

A number of national faith based bodies launched or supported appeals to aid victims of the fire, such as the Salvation Army (<http://news.salvationarmy.org.uk/salvation-army-grenfell-fire-emergency-response-london>) and the Muslim Council of Britain (www.mcb.org.uk/support-and-donations-needed-for-grenfell-tower-victims).

Inter faith organisations such as Faiths Forum for London and the London Boroughs Faiths Network also offered practical support to victims.

Many faith and inter faith organisations also issued statements and messages, such as those that can be seen at: <https://ctbi.org.uk/appeal-and-prayers-after-grenfell-tower-fire>; www.hinducounciluk.org/2017/06/15/hindu-council-uk-statement-on-the-grenfell-tower-fire-in-north-kensington-london/; <http://faithsforum.com/response-grenfell-tower-fire/>; and <http://www.ccj.org.uk/response-from-bishop-michael-to-the-grenfell-tower-fire/>.

Faith communities have also been involved in mediating between local residents and authorities in the weeks since the fire - <https://www.theguardian.com/uk-news/2017/jul/19/grenfell-faith-groups-step-in-to-mediate-between-officials-and-community>.

Continuing faith and inter faith work with refugees, asylum seekers and migrants

On 19 July a new £1 million funding pot to help community groups support refugees fleeing the war in Syria to settle in the UK was announced. The funding was announced by the Home Secretary to mark the one year anniversary of the Community Sponsorship Scheme. This scheme, which was launched by the Home Secretary at Lambeth Palace last year, enables community groups to take on the role of supporting refugees who have been resettled from the camps in the countries surrounding Syria in the UK.

Since the scheme launched last year, 53 refugees have been welcomed by 10 community groups across the UK. Community sponsors, including charities and faith groups, provide housing for the refugee families, as well as helping them to integrate into life in the UK, access medical and social services, arranging English language tuition and supporting them towards employment and self-sufficiency. The new 2 year £1 million fund will provide training and support for groups signing up to the scheme.

Those responding to the scheme are not just from areas of high diversity. For example the Fishguard Refugee Sponsorship Group was one of the first to respond to the UK scheme: <https://www.opensocietyfoundations.org/voices/message-wales-refugees-people-are-very-keen-help>.

Further information can be found at <https://www.gov.uk/government/news/home-secretary-announces-1-million-to-help-communities-support-refugees>.

Faith and inter faith organisations and communities are continuing to respond to the needs of refugees, asylum seekers and migrants.

Churches Together in Britain and Ireland (CTBI), in conjunction with the National Justice and Peace Network and Christians Aware, has produced a leaflet entitled 'Facts about refugees' to assist churches and others in offering responses. The leaflet sets out the 1951 United Nations Convention definition of a refugee, points to the most recent facts and figures about refugees, links to stories of refugees and gives pointers as to action that can be taken, as well as providing follow-up contacts. The leaflet can be downloaded from the CTBI website at <https://ctbi.org.uk/facts-about-refugees-leaflet/>. In April, CTBI also organised a fact-finding trip to Italian refugee projects. For more information about the trip, and CTBI's other work with refugees, migrants and asylum seekers, visit <http://focusonrefugees.org/>.

An Edinburgh Weekend Club for refugees has started. It is based on a successful model run by Interfaith Glasgow (reported on previously) and is run by Scottish Faiths Action for Refugees. The project tackles social isolation to support integration and is also an opportunity to demonstrate the shared values of different faith traditions. For further information about Scottish Faiths Action for Refugees, visit <http://www.sfar.org.uk>.

Scottish Faiths Action for Refugees organised an inter faith pilgrimage to the mountain of Ben Ledi near Callander. The pilgrimage was held on the theme of ‘Sanctuary and Refugees’.

The Joseph Interfaith Foundation is running an initiative for young refugees entitled ‘Introduction to the Social Culture of Britain’. As part of its aim to assist young refugees with realising their full potential whilst living in the UK, the Foundation has released nine short videos. The videos are on such themes as ‘Women’s Equality and Domestic Abuse’; ‘The Rule of Law and Equality before the Law’; and ‘Accessing the National Health Service and Mental Health Issues’. The videos contain advice from professionals in these fields. The videos are free to access on the Joseph Interfaith Foundation website at <http://www.josephinterfaithfoundation.org/ongoing.php>. To find out more about the project, or to participate or recommend someone for participation, email info@josephinterfaithfoundation.org.

St Ethelburga’s Centre for Reconciliation and Peace ‘People of the Earth’ project has a refugee related dimension, reflected in an event it held this month on the theme of ‘People of the Earth: sowing seeds of human connection’. The event brought together refugees, asylum seekers, organisations and Londoners for a day of connection, community and fun. More information about St Ethelburga’s ‘People of the Earth’ project can be found at <https://stethelburgas.org/projects/people-of-the-earth/>.

Locally, faith and inter faith groups continue to raise funds and develop practical forms of support. For example, this month the community at Ealing Liberal Synagogue raised over £5,000 at a special fun day event, with the money going to the Abraham’s Tent Project to turn a former caretaker’s flat at South London Liberal Synagogue into a home for a refugee family. A Faiths in Action showcase, held earlier this month at Bradford’s Faith Centre in Oakwood Court, City Road, aimed to show how faith and non-faith groups are all pitching in to help and encouraging more people to join them. Further information is at http://www.thetelegraphandargus.co.uk/news/local/localbrad/15414303.Refugees_speak_of_their_experiences_as_faith_groups_unite_to_help/.

Migration Exchange has commissioned a piece of work looking at the role of faith networks in service delivery and advocacy for refugees, migrants and asylum seekers. The report is due to be launched this Autumn. For further information, contact mike@mikebuckley.org.uk.

Note: Other initiatives have been reported on in earlier issues of the e-bulletin.

Hate Crime

Figures from the Community Security Trust show an increase in the number of reported anti-Semitic incidents between January and June 2017 by a third compared to the same period in 2016. This reflects the highest number of incidents recorded for a January to June period since records began in 1984 (<https://cst.org.uk/news/blog/2017/07/27/cst-antisemitic-incidents-report-reveals-record-number-of-antisemitic-hate-incidents-in-first-six-months-of-2017>).

The number of Islamophobic attacks in Manchester went up fivefold in the week after the Arena bombing on 22 May, with 139 incidents reported to Tell Mama, the group recording Islamophobic crimes, compared to 25 incidents the previous week <https://www.theguardian.com/society/2017/jun/20/anti-muslim-hate-surges-after-manchester-and-london-bridge-attacks>. Figures released in June by Greater Manchester Police showed hate crimes linked to religion had leapt from 92 to 366 since the arena attack <https://www.theguardian.com/uk-news/2017/jun/22/islamophobic-attacks-manchester-increase-arena-attack> There was also a spike in anti-Muslim attacks following the London Bridge and Finsbury Park Mosque attacks.

Members of other faith and ethnic groups also continue to suffer hate attacks.

In this context, the work of faith communities, inter faith organisations and all who work to bring together people of different backgrounds to grow in understanding and build relationships is vital. Issues around hate crime and tackling prejudice have been prominent on the agendas of recent IFN meetings for local inter faith practitioners, meetings of IFN's Faith Communities Forum and on IFN's National Meetings, as well as through highlighting relevant items within e-bulletins.

The Government announced last September funding to support community projects that prevent hate crime. Details can be found at <https://www.gov.uk/guidance/preventing-hate-crime-funding-for-community-projects>. The deadline for applications is 15 September 2017.

Vulnerable Faith Institutions Scheme

The Home Office announced on 7 July the opening of a new funding scheme for places of worship that require extra security to protect themselves from attacks on racial, religious or ideological grounds. This was announced following the terrorist attack near Muslim Welfare House and Finsbury Park Mosque.

The Vulnerable Faith Institutions Scheme, which is an extension of the Places of Worship Security Scheme, will pay for places of worship to install security measures such as CCTV cameras, alarms, bollards or strengthened fencing. Applications close on 17 August. Further information can be found at <https://www.gov.uk/guidance/vulnerable-faith-institutions-scheme>.

As noted in the March/April e-bulletin, IFN recently published relevant updated and expanded guidance: Looking After One Another: The Safety and Security of Our Faith Communities. This can be found at <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/looking-after->

one-another-the-safety-and-security-of-our-faith-communities-2017 and hard copies are available on request. It was published in partnership with the Department for Communities and Local Government, the Home Office, the Crown Prosecution Service, the National Police Chiefs' Council and the National Fire Chiefs' Council.

Extension of public consultation on Caste in Great Britain and Equality Law

The public consultation on 'Caste in Great Britain and Equality Law', launched by the Government Equalities Office (GEO) in March was extended, following the General Election for a further 8 weeks until 18 September.

The consultation is described as seeking views on how best to ensure that there is appropriate legal protection against caste discrimination. The consultation website notes that "This ban could be applied: a) by formally making caste an aspect of race in the Equality Act 2010 or b) through developing case law in the courts and employment tribunals. In either case, businesses and public authorities would have to consider caste discrimination in the same way they consider other aspects of race discrimination when dealing with employees, customers or service users." Full details of the consultation and how to respond are at <https://www.gov.uk/government/consultations/caste-in-great-britain-and-equality-law-a-public-consultation>.

Srebrenica Memorial Week

Events took place across the UK between Sunday 9 and Sunday 16 July to mark Srebrenica Memorial Week. The theme for the week, which marked the 22nd Anniversary of the Srebrenica Genocide, was 'Breaking the Silence: Gender and Genocide'. The theme explored the gendered nature of the genocide in Bosnia and remembered its hidden victims, particularly victims of sexual violence. The week also explored the untold stories of women's acts of courage during and after the Bosnian war and the genocide and the contributions of those women seeking truth and justice for the victims of the genocide, and challenging denial.

An event was held at the Guildhall in London, which included addresses from survivors, Lord Bourne of Aberystwyth, Minister for Faith and Integration at the Department for Communities and Local Government and Nicola Sturgeon, First Minister of Scotland. A National Commemoration for Wales was also held at The Pierhead in Cardiff, as well as a commemoration for Northern Ireland at Belfast City Hall. People of many faiths and beliefs, and many IFN member bodies, were involved in marking the anniversary in some way. Srebrenica Memorial Week is coordinated by Remembering Srebrenica. To find out more, visit www.screbrenica.org.uk.

INTER FAITH NETWORK FOR THE UK NEWS

IFN 30th Anniversary National Meeting

IFN's 30th Anniversary was marked at its National Meeting in London on 5 July. 140 representatives of member bodies from across the UK and of many faiths attended, exploring the theme of 'Moving Forward Together'. The meeting looked forwards and outwards, taking some of the key publications and projects of IFN as a basis for discussion of the future of inter faith relations in the UK and of how we live well together as people of different faiths – as well as with people of non-religious beliefs. It explored questions on what the things are that unite us and how we respect and celebrate difference while building on what we share.

INTER FAITH PROJECTS, PROGRAMMES AND DEVELOPMENTS

The Grand Trunk Project

The Grand Trunk Project, launched on 4 July, seeks inspiration from the Grand Trunk Road, which runs across the Indian subcontinent. 2017 marks 70 years since Indian independence and the partition that led to the creation of Pakistan and later Bangladesh, and the project will also seek to explore the legacy of these events among faith communities in the UK. 11 events will be held across the UK during the summer of 2017 as part of the project, and an exhibition will also tour the country.

The project aims to bring together British Asian faith communities to build bridges and develop lasting inter community relations. It has been developed in partnership with faith leaders and community activists, and is facilitated by the Faiths Forum for London. Other faith organisations, such as the City Sikhs Network, are also involved.

Sacred Sounds concerts

Throughout the summer and autumn of 2017, Alchemy and South Asian Arts, in association with the Network of Sikh Organisations, are touring the UK with a special concert on the theme of ‘Sacred Sounds: Sikh music traditions and the First World War’. The concert tells some of the stories of Sikh soldiers that fought in the First World War, and showcases the music that these soldiers took with them to the battlefield. The concert includes vocals, music, spoken word, visuals and animation. A number of seminars and conferences are also being held as part of the project. The final performance will take place in Leeds on Wednesday 15 November.

For more information on the concerts, including tour dates and locations, and for booking information, visit <http://alchemyanew.com/sacred-sounds/>, or email info@saa-uk.org/.

‘All of us’ film

The Women’s Interfaith Network is developing an educational film aimed at children and young people on the theme of ‘All of us’. The short animated film is being created as a resource for a wide reaching campaign to promote religious and cultural tolerance. The project aims “to create a vision of how different belief systems, cultural and racial diversities could positively co-exist” and will be promoted nationally and internationally to schools, communities and members of the public.

Inter faith walks

The summer months are a time when many organisations choose to hold faith walks, trails and pilgrimages. These events enable members of the public to visit places of worship in their neighbourhoods, to increase religious literacy, to meet people of different faiths and beliefs, or to unite in support of a common cause, such as expressing solidarity or working for peace.

Examples of recent faith walks, trails or pilgrimages include those held by: Scottish Faiths Action for Refugees <http://www.sfar.org.uk/shoulder-to-shoulder/>; Hounslow Friends of Faith <http://www.hounslowfriendsoffaitth.org/2017/06/walk-of-peace-and-friendship/>; Medway Inter Faith Action <http://www.kentonline.co.uk/medway/news/peace-walk-aiming-to-unite-127969/> Oxford Council of Faiths; http://www.oxfordtimes.co.uk/NEWS/15382958.Hundreds unite for interfaith walk with 39 friendship at its heart 39 /; and West Cheshire Interfaith Forum (<http://www.chesterchronicle.co.uk/news/chester-cheshire-news/ellesmere-port-stages-historic-walk-13379149>)

Details of upcoming faith walks in London and Luton can be found in the ‘Diary dates’ section of the E-Bulletin.

Friday, Saturday, Sunday

Friday, Saturday, Sunday is an architect-led proposal to create a unique building: a single place of worship containing a church, a synagogue and a mosque. Three architects, one Christian, one Jewish and one Muslim – are exploring the possibility of bringing these three faiths together physically, but serving each of them distinctly. The shared space would function as a mosque on a Friday, a synagogue on a Friday evening and Saturday and a church on a Sunday, and would contain all of the practical functions of each.

The architects are exploring whether such a building can be built, and if so, where, along with discussion of the theological, social and aesthetic questions that the project raises. A steering group has been established to discuss how the project might be realised, possibly in the context of a temporary space. For further information, contact Matthew Lloyd at matthew.lloyd@matthewlloyd.co.uk.

The Great Get Together

From 16 to 18 June the Great Get Together encouraged people around the UK to come together with their neighbours to share food and celebrate all that we hold in common. The Inter Faith Network for the UK was a partner on the project, as were a number of faith bodies and inter faith organisations and the Near Neighbours Programme.

The GGT was widely marked and the organisers are now considering how to build on its success. Stories, comments and ideas welcomed at: <http://www.greatgettogether.org/join-in/>.

Ethical finance project

The Church of Scotland and the Islamic Finance Council UK are running an ongoing project to produce a financial product which would help to tackle financial exclusion based upon the shared values of faith communities. The creation of ethical financial services will draw on how the Christian and Muslim communities have supported ethical finance in the past. A series of inter faith workshops have taken place, including at the House of Lords, to determine the direction of the project, which is now entering a phase of research and development. The final product will be open to members of all faith communities to use.

The project most recently presented to the 13th Edinburgh Ethical Finance Round Table on 15 June this year, which was held on the theme of faith-based finance and faith-based perspectives on ethical investment. For further information, contact the Islamic Finance Council UK at info@ukifc.com or the Church of Scotland Church and Society Council at churchandsociety@cofscotland.org.uk.

Involvement of faith communities in World War One and Remembrance Sunday

IFN's Board of Trustees agreed earlier this year that Inter Faith Week will continue to begin on Remembrance Sunday and run for 8 days, finishing on the following Sunday, until agreed otherwise. It is planned to prepare some materials about faith communities' involvement in World War One and in Remembrance Sunday. Links to relevant materials or initiatives would be welcomed. Please send to ifnet@interfaith.org.uk marked 'WW1 and Remembrance'.

Vulnerable Faith Institutions Scheme

The Home Office has announced the opening of a new funding scheme for places of worship that require extra security to protect themselves from attacks on racial, religious or ideological grounds.

The Vulnerable Faith Institutions Scheme, which is an extension of the Places of Worship Security Scheme, will pay for places of worship to install security measures such as CCTV cameras, alarms, bollards or strengthened fencing.

The scheme is considering bids from places of worship in England and Wales, such as mosques, gurdwaras, temples, churches and associated faith community centres. Faith schools, educational institutions, general community centres, NHS establishments (including chapels and prayer rooms) are not eligible to apply. The Jewish community will be exempt from this scheme as a similar commitment was made to fund Jewish community sites through a grant administered by the Community Security Trust.

Applications close on 17 August. For further information, visit <https://www.gov.uk/guidance/vulnerable-faith-institutions-scheme>.

- Work sustainably. We want to see long term and natural relationships grow, that will last beyond the period of funding.
- Work to improve the community. We want to see people working to make their communities a better place to live.
- Involve diverse people in planning and implementation. People from more than one faith group and/or ethnicity are involved in planning and implementing the proposal.
