FAITH AND PUBLIC LIFE UPDATES

New Government

On 23 July, the Rt Hon Boris Johnson MP was elected leader of the Conservative Party and became Prime Minister the following day.

The Government department that has a central role in relation to faith and belief is the Ministry of Housing, Communities and Local Government (MHCLG). The Rt Hon Robert Jenrick MP has become the new Secretary of State for Housing, Communities and Local Government.

Viscount Younger of Leckie was appointed Parliamentary Under Secretary of State at MHCLG and has taken on the role of Minister for Faith and Communities.

Lord Ahmad of Wimbledon has been reappointed as the Prime Minister's Special Envoy on Freedom of Religion or Belief. Global religious freedom issues are on the agenda of a number of UK faith communities and the focus of a dedicated All Party Parliamentary Group – the APPG for International Freedom of Religion or Belief.

Back to the top

Faith communities and refugees

In a letter of 26 July - supported by Safe Passage, the Refugee Council and the Red Cross - over 100 faith leaders wrote to Prime Minister Boris Johnson, asking him to commit his government to offering refugees a sanctuary in the UK:

http://safepassage.org.uk/news_posts/faith-leaders-call-on-boris-johnson-to-welcome-refugees/

<https://www.theguardian.com/uk-news/2019/jul/26/faith-leaders-urge-boris-johnson-to-commit-to-offering-refugees-sanctuary>.

Faith communities continue, separately and together, to work nationally and locally to respond to the needs of refugees and asylum seekers, as do a number of local inter faith bodies.

Back to the top

Security of faith communities

Concerns continue about the safety and security of faith communities and their premises. Recent incidents in the news include vandal attacks on religious statues outside the Shree Ram Mandir in Walsall <https://metro.co.uk/2019/07/06/vandals-smash-religious-statues-outside-hindu-temple-10125136/>.

The Home Office has a Places of Worship (POW) Protective Security Funding scheme which provides funding for protective security measures for places of worship and associated faith community centres that are vulnerable to hate crime. The £1.6 million scheme will fund security measures including CCTV, alarms and improved locks at buildings vulnerable to attacks. Further information is in the Funding section below. There have been calls on the Scottish Government to operate a comparable scheme:

<https://www.express.co.uk/news/uk/1158773/SNP-fund-protect-places-worship-security>.

Useful resources for faith communities include:

- Looking After One Another: The Safety and Security of Our Faith Communities - published by the Inter Faith Network for the UK (IFN) in partnership with the then Department for Communities and Local Government, the Home Office, the Crown Prosecution Service, the National Police Chiefs' Council and the National Fire Chiefs' Council: <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/looking-after-one-another-the-safety-and-security-of-our-faith-communities-2017>

Antisemitism and Islamophobia

Government appointment of independent adviser on Antisemitism

On 23 July the Government announced that it had appointed John Mann MP as an independent adviser on Antisemitism. Mr Mann, who chairs the All Party Parliamentary Group Against Antisemitism, will be responsible for providing the Ministry of Housing, Communities and Local Government (MHCLG) with independent advice on the most effective methods to tackle Antisemitism. He will collaborate with Lord Pickles, the UK's Special Envoy for Post-Holocaust Issues, and with Lord Ahmad of Wimbledon, the Special Envoy for Freedom of Religion and Belief, to ensure a consistent approach. Further information on the appointment is at <https://www.gov.uk/government/news/john-mann-appointed-as-independent-adviser-on-antisemitism>.

Government appointment of independent adviser for advice on definition of Islamophobia

The June issue of the e-bulletin noted that the Government had rejected the working definition of Islamophobia developed by the All Party Parliamentary Group on British Muslims, published in Autumn 2018, and had said that it would instead by appointing two advisers to examine the issue further. On 23 July the Government announced that it had appointed Imam Qari Asim MBE, Deputy Chair of the Anti-Muslim Hatred Working Group, to lead a process for establishing a definition of Islamophobia. He will be joined by a second adviser who is expected to be confirmed shortly. The new work will build on the definitions of Islamophobia currently under consideration, including the definition produced by the APPG on British Muslims. Further information on the appointment is at <https://www.gov.uk/government/news/independent-expert-appointed-to-tackle-islamophobia>.

These appointments come at a time when concern about hate crime, discrimination and prejudice in relation to many religion and belief groups is high, including in the context of 'mistaken identity'. The January-June 2019 Antisemitic Incidents Report published by the CST on 1 August records the highest number of incidents CST has ever recorded in the January to June period of any year: 892. This is a 10% cent increase on the 810 incidents recorded by CST during the same period in 2018 (which was itself a record high for that six month period, and formed part of a record annual total of 1,688 Antisemitic incidents for the whole of 2018).

'Faith-based bigotry' and sport and inter faith understanding

According to a report in The Telegraph reports of Antisemitism, Islamophobia and other faith-based bigotry in professional and grassroots football increased by 75 per cent from the previous year, according to the latest Kick it Out statistics.

<https://www.telegraph.co.uk/football/2019/07/24/incidents-racism-football-double-just-five-years-kick-chief/>

At the same time, there is an increasing focus on the power of sport to encourage understanding and cooperation between people of different backgrounds. This was illustrated in coverage of the Cricket World Cup and the diversity and team spirit of the England team - <https://www.theguardian.com/sport/2019/jul/15/diversity-strength-england-win-cricket-world-cup> - as it has been in events such as those of Spirit of 2012's

Breaking Boundaries programme, exemplified by events such as a festival on 31 July in Slough opened by Monty Panessar - <https://twitter.com/aiksaath?lang=en>.

Equality and Human Rights Commission updates

Access to legal aid for discrimination cases

In June the EHRC published the report of its inquiry into whether legal aid enables victims of discrimination in England and Wales to get justice. This included whether some individuals experience specific difficulties in accessing legal aid because of a protected characteristic, such as religion or belief. The full inquiry report and the two supporting research reports are available at <https://www.equalityhumanrights.com/en/publication-download/access-legal-aid-discrimination-cases>.

Business Plan

The Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) has published its 2019/20 Business Plan which covers the first year of its new three-year Strategic Plan. Its priorities include: equal access to the labour market and fair treatment at work; inclusion in public transport; access to justice; equality and human rights in the education system; institutions respecting equality and human rights standards.

The full plan is available at

2021 Census

As noted in previous e-bulletins, in December, the Government published its White Paper outlining the recommendations for the 2021 Census. The Census (Return Particulars and Removal of Penalties) Bill, to amend the Census Act 1920, had its first reading in the House of Lords on 1 May and its second reading on 17 July.

Some groups within the Sikh community have been lobbying for there to be a separate tick box for 'Sikh' in the ethnic group category. Other groups within the Sikh community have been arguing against this. The Office for National Statistics has said that there are no plans for a separate tick box in the ethnic group category; there will continue to be a tick box in the religion category.

In July the Jain community, through OneJain, represented by the Institute of Jainology, submitted a petition to Downing Street, requesting that there be a separate tick box for the Jain community in the religion category.

Relationships and Sex Education guidance

The Government published on 25 June 2019 ‘Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education (RSE) and Health Education’, statutory guidance for governing bodies, proprietors, head teachers, principals, senior leadership teams, teachers. It can be found at; <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/relationships-education-relationships-and-sex-education-rse-and-health-education>.

The curriculum becomes mandatory for all maintained schools in England, including Academies and Free Schools, from September 2020. Schools, though, are being encouraged by Government to adopt it from this September. If doing so, however, they will still need to meet the current Sex and Relationship Education statutory guidance.

Sex and Relationship Education has been a focus of protests at a school in Birmingham, linked to the use of the ‘No Outsiders’ programme, as reported widely in the media.

On 16 July a joint meeting of the All Party Parliamentary Group (APPG) on Religious Education and the APPG on Faith and Society explored the issue of ‘Compliance, Assessment and Enforcement: Promoting Positive Outcomes in Religious Education and Relationships and Sex Education’. The meeting was attended by the Minister of State for School Standards, Nick Gibb MP, who has been overseeing the development of the guidance. The meeting highlighted the work of Newham SACRE, which has looked at the issue of faith communities and the response to the new guidance.

Faith communities responding to climate change

A wide range of faith community bodies and faith based organisations joined the ‘The Time Is Now’ mass lobby against climate change in Westminster on 26 June organised by the Climate Coalition and Greener UK. A number of faith leaders then led the ‘Walk of Witness’ from the National Gallery down Whitehall.

Many of the faith bodies are part of the Climate Coalition and/or Faith for the Climate: <https://www.faithfortheclimate.org.uk>

Environmental issues are increasingly at the forefront of faith community agendas and places of worship are also taking them up. For example on 7 July synagogues across the country celebrated the first Green Shabbat, organised by Eco Synagogue. <https://ecosynagogue.org/green-shabbat-5-6th-july/>

MHCLG's vision for stronger communities

On 20 July, the Government published 'By deeds and their results: how we will strengthen our communities and nation'. The document sets out the Ministry of Housing Communities and Local Government's vision for "stronger communities, why communities matter, what strong communities look like, and what government and partners can do to support their creation". It sets out the 4 pillars which will shape the Ministry's work across Government, focused on supporting: trust, connectedness and local pride; active citizenship and local control; shared community spaces; and shared prosperity, with no community left behind.

INTER FAITH PROJECTS, PROGRAMMES AND DEVELOPMENTS

Muslim Christian refugee partnership

Mosques in North East London have partnered with churches and Christian groups to sponsor a Syrian refugee family who will be starting their new life in the UK. The Redbridge Community Sponsorship project is a partnership between South Woodford Mosque, Balfour Road Mosque, Ilford Methodist Church, Ilford Salvation Army, St Thomas of Canterbury RC Church and Wanstead Quakers. A group of residents and faith communities, with the support of Redbridge Council and Citizen UK's Sponsor Refugees project, developed a detailed Community Sponsorship plan outlining how they will support the family and fundraised £9,000 to help cover the family's expenses for an initial 18-month period. For more information about the Redbridge Community Sponsorship project, visit <https://www.facebook.com/RedbridgeSponsorRefugees>.

The Community Sponsorship scheme was launched by the government in 2016, allowing groups of UK residents the opportunity to take the lead in welcoming a refugee family.

Research England survey on funding

Research England distributes funding to universities based on their research performance. This is known as Quality-related Research, or QR funding. To support its commitment to improving equality, diversity and inclusion, it undertakes Equality Impact Assessments (EIAs) of its functions and policy. It is currently undertaking an EIA of its QR and formula research capital funding.

The EIA will look at the impact of our funding not only on staff at universities but also at the research it supports and the potential beneficiaries of research. To do this, it is gathering views and evidence from groups of people with protected characteristics, including religion and belief, who might benefit from research and may therefore be affected by its funding decisions.

The online survey can be found at <https://www.smartsurvey.co.uk/s/ResearchEnglandEIA/>. Further information can be found in the survey guidance and in the EIA background document, which sets out how it allocates our funding. This information will be important to take into consideration when responding to the survey.

FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

Places of Worship – Security funding scheme

The Places of Worship Fund, established in 2016 as part of the Government's Hate Crime Action Plan, provides financial support for physical protective security such as fencing, lighting and CCTV. The Government at that time committed funding of £2.4 million over 3 years. A further £1.6 million was announced after the New Zealand mosque attacks.

Organisations no longer have to prove, in order to be eligible, that they have previously experienced a hate crime incident directly. For more information, visit <https://www.gov.uk/guidance/places-of-worship-security-funding-scheme>. The closing date for the current round of funding applications is 31 August.

There is also a separate £5 million fund being made available over 3 years to provide protective security training to build on some of the positive work already happening in communities. The Home Office will be working closely with communities and faith leaders to develop this new scheme. Further information is at <https://www.gov.uk/government/news/places-of-worship-to-get-security-funding-boost> with further details to be published.

Funding to promote organ donation

NHS Blood and Transplant is offering funding to help organisations promote deceased organ donation among black, Asian and minority ethnic (BAME) communities in England and Wales. They are looking for applications that will deliver projects to reach these BAME communities and/or engage people around their faith/beliefs.

Successful programmes for activity in England will need to demonstrate how they will help contribute to awareness and understanding of the new opt-out system in England. They should also address myths and barriers and increase support for organ donation among the target audience(s) of their project. Funding is available for projects in England and/or Wales. In Wales it is funded by the Welsh Government and the Department of Health and Social Care. Organisations applying for funds can apply for one of two options: funds up to £2,499 or between £2,500 and £10,000. The deadline for applications is 1 September. Further information about the application process is at www.nhsbt.nhs.uk/bamefundingcall.
